"What Has Been Accomplished by the Mutual Benefit in Last Decade."

(Courant, February, 1916.)

"What has been accomplished during the decade up to and including the present year in the way of concessions to policyholders and in strengthening the Company's position, it may not be amiss to state briefly as follows:

In 1907 the Mutual Benefit still further liberalized for both old and new policies, its non-forfeiture system adopted in 1879 and modified in 1895 and 1900.

In 1908 the Company established a "Suspended Mortality Fund," which relieves the Company of the necessity of changing its dividend scale to meet fluctuations in death losses from year to year.

In 1909 the Company increased its dividend scale for 1910 and declared a special dividend of $675,000, payable in 1910, in addition to the increased dividend.

In 1910 the Company established a "Real Estate Depreciation Fund."

In 1911 it established a "Security Fluctuation Fund" and made a further increase in its dividend scale for 1912.

In 1912 the Company established higher reserves for policies issued prior to 1900, and provided that thereafter the loan and surrender values of such policies should be based upon such high reserves.

In 1913 the Company declared a special dividend of $867,000 in addition to the regular dividend.

In 1914 the Company declared a special dividend of $861,000 in addition to the regular dividend, and adopted an increased dividend scale for the year 1915, which increased scale will be maintained in 1916.

In 1916 the Company has declared a special dividend of $1,156,978 in addition to the regular dividend schedule."

LOCAL DENTIST ONE COMMITTEE OF FOUR

TO SOLICIT FUNDS TO MAINTAIN HOSPITAL IN FRANCE

FACIAL WOUNDS

In the European War Have Been Great Owing to the Modes Present Warfare

The National Dental association through the American National committee are asking the aid of all the humane people of the United States in the building of a special American Hospital in Paris for soldiers wounded in the face and jaw. Dr. W. W. Chisholm is one of a committee of four covering the Southern states and he wishes to enlist the support and interest of not only every citizen in Anderson, but throughout the state of South Carolina.

Your help is needed in the great work of restoring horribly mutilated human beings to the semblance of human beings. In the first twelve months of the war, the official reports show 6,490,000 wounded. In this terrible sum of human misery there has been little time to think of after effects.

It is comparatively nothing that part of a man's face is shot away. If his life is not in danger, he must leave the hospital as soon as possible to make room for a new victim.

Although because of the character of trench warfare, the number of facial wounds has been in proportion for greater than in any other war, the accommodations as to hospital space are badly lacking. After first treatments, they are now crowded out because the room is all-importantly necessary in the never-ending battle to save life. The consequence is that at the close of the war a heroic young man may go out into the world in possession of his strength and all his faculties, but with so revolting an appearance that people shrink from him on the street.

Noses are blown off; cheek bones crushed, upper jaws caved in and lower jaws shot away, but there is no time for any treatment except to prevent infection. With few exceptions, the delicate rebuilding work must be entirely neglected. There is no time, no place. One young man was brought back from the firing-line with nothing to show that he had ever had a face excepting two slits under the eyebrows and a few teeth in the lower jaw. Where his face had been, was what looked like the crater of some horrible volcano, but he was so accustomed to such mutilation that he was happy that he still had his sight.

Now the National Dental association with the cooperation of the American Medical association want to make a place for the treatment of these mutilated soldiers so that when this horrible war is over, these brave and loyal young men can be sent back into the world with nothing but a few scars to show, and with a little help from you, this can be done.

The committee has printed photographs showing these wounds before and after they have been treated by Dr. Morestin, the famous facial surgeon, who has been called "the sculptor of human flesh." It was decided by the committee that the "before" were too frightful to be sent broadcast through the country, but Dr. Chisholm has these photographs and will be glad to show them to anyone who cares to see.

The greatest facial surgeons in the world have contributed their services to this hospital to be established in Paris for the treatment of these wounded soldiers. The French war office has offered a suitable building. The American Red Cross will supply disinfectants, gauze, bandages, cotton, and other hospital supplies. It has also given $2,000 in cash and may be of future assistance.

For each $20,000 the committee can establish and maintain one hundred beds. Even one hundred beds will do a great work. Five hundred will do wonders.

Won't you help, if even only a little?

Any contribution you care to make to this institution, send to Dr. W. W. Chisholm and he will forward it immediately to the treasurer of the committee for the Special American hospital in Paris for wounds of the face and jaw.

Dr. Chisholm will be glad to tell any one who may be interested, more of this contemplated work of the National Dental association and also show the pictures, specimen of the wonderful work that Dr. Morestin and his associates offers to do in this hospital.—Contributed.

SENT MOURNING TO MOTHER, THEN KILLED HERSELF

Atlanta, May 17.—A coroner's jury yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of suicide in the case of Miss Eleanor Van Valkenburgh, who shot herself to death Sunday night at a local hotel. The tragedy according to the police was the outgrowth of a love affair. The body was carried to the Huntsville, Ala., home of the girl yesterday morning by her brother.

The coroner's jury before rendering its verdict held an executive session to determine whether the last letters of the girl should be opened. They were found on a table in Miss Van Valkenburgh's room and were marked "personal." It was decided not to open the letters after hearing from an Atlanta lawyer, acting as a friend of the family, who appealed to the jury not to open them.

The letters were addressed to an Atlanta traveling man whom, it is stated, the girl was to have met here Sunday. The fact that he did not keep his appointment is believed to have caused the girl to take her life.

A pathetic feature in connection with the tragedy is that the girl, shortly before she took her life, went to a Whitehall street department store, where her family has an account, and carefully selected four expensive morning gowns with the necessary black trimmings. These she ordered expressed to her mother in order that the latter might make a choice of the garments.

Prior to her death the girl talked to friends of her unrequited love.

SAW WILL IN DREAM

Woman Has Vision of Document in Old Home and Discovers It. (Ligonier, Pa., Dispatch to Pittsburgh Post.)

Through the medium of a dream Mrs. Henry W. Williams, widow of her postmaster in Williams, near here, who was believed to have died intestate, found the will left by him.

When a thorough search failed to disclose a will following Mr. Ware's death, recently preparations were made to appoint an administrator and appraise the estate. Before this step had been taken, however, Mrs. Ware had a realistic dream, in which she saw her husband's will in her old home in Hyndman.

Convinced that she would find the will, Mrs. Ware went there and discovered the document among old papers. The witnesses had forgotten the will's existence, but they recognized their signatures. The will leaves the entire estate to Mrs. Ware.

COMB SAGE TEA IN FADED OR GRAY HAIR

If Mixed with Sulphur it Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready for use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampens a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Sunshine Pours Into Our Lives Over the Wires

"With all the children married and living in different places the Bell Telephone is essential to our happiness. We can call any of them, day or night, and hear them as well as if they were right here.

"Very often one of the girls calls me by Long Distance and we have a pleasant visit of five minutes or more. You'd be surprised to know how little it costs as compared with the joy and satisfaction.

"When any of the grandchildren are sick and I am called at night, I simply reach for my extension telephone and talk without moving from my bed. Often I can give advice and direction that saves lots of worry."
